

BISMARCK TO HAVE COLLEGE

MRS. HEATON IS VICTOR IN PLAY
FOR GOLF TITLE

Defeats Mrs. Vesperman of Bismarck, in Excellent Match at Country Club

MEN ARE IN SEMI-FINALS

Hard-fought Matches in Progress; E. B. Cox Hope of Bismarck Golfers

Mrs. A. H. Heaton, of Dickinson, won the women's state golf championship in the state tournament at the Country club over Mrs. E. H. Vesperman, of Bismarck.

The final match between the two for the championship was one of the prettiest of the tournament, which has been in progress since Tuesday.

Mrs. Heaton won 3 up on the 17th hole reached during the middle of the afternoon.

In the men's semi-finals, R. F. Smith of Minot, who has displayed some of the best golf seen on the local course in years, defeated William Kostelecky, of Dickinson this afternoon and won the right to compete for the state championship and cup tomorrow.

Smith defeated Kostelecky 8 up and 6 to go. The pair played thirty-one of the thirty-six scheduled matches finishing about 2 o'clock this afternoon after several months play.

Smith made the last three holes in 19 and had a score of 81 for the first 18 holes while Kostelecky had a score of 89 at the halfway mark.

E. B. Cox, assistant attorney general representing the Bismarck club was fighting C. E. Bristol of Fargo in the other pairing of the semi-finals.

Cox was leading Bristol 2 up at the 16th hole. A large gallery followed the golfers.

Results in Second Flight

Today was an ideal day for the golfers. The wind which has been a serious handicap the last few days was not so strong today enabling the players to gauge more accurately their drives. Other weather conditions were good.

In the consolation tournament this morning Hutton had defeated Low 2-1. Blackhouse defeated Bird 2-0. Woodledge defeated Mandik 2-0. Ramabottom won from Sheldon 3-1.

The results in the second flight tournament up to noon were: Tillotson defeated Erdahl 7-6. Gross defeated Thomas 5-4. W. H. Magill won from L. R. Critchfield 12-1. Kostelecky defeated Wemack 21-1. Barnard won from L. Knudson 2-1. Hunter defeated Roquette 12-1. Hunter won from Keith 6-5. Gilman defeated Rawlings 4-1. In the second round of this tournament Gross defeated Tillotson one up in twenty-two holes. Magill defeated L. Kostelecky one up. Hunter defeated Barnard 4-3. Heaton won from Gilman 3-2.

In the third flight Prahl defeated Thomas 12-1. Critchfield won from Bismarck. Knudson defeated Roquette and Rawlings won from Keith. The championships in these flights will be decided by tonight.

The novice contest approaching putting and driving contests which were scheduled to be held this afternoon will be held tonight at seven o'clock.

Four Eliminated

The four men eliminated yesterday from the state championship are: B. Little Bismarck, A. S. Bolster Bismarck, L. J. Stronahan Fargo and C. Nichols Bismarck. It appears that Bismarck has the severest setback losing three contestants.

Mr. Little defaulted to Mr. Cox. L. J. Stronahan was eliminated by Smith of Minot 5 up and 5 to go. Kostelecky displayed some excellent putting and driving when he defeated Cox 5 up and 4 to go. He covered the 9 hole lap once in 39 shots and was very steady with his drives and puts.

Close Match

One of the closest and hardest fought matches of the tournament was between A. S. Bolster of this city and C. E. Bristol of Fargo. Mr. Bristol won on the 18 hole one up. The game seemed back and forth, first one player capturing the lead and then the other. Both men played good golf but Bolster was unsteady in the greens. Bristol played very consistent making all his shots count.

New Course Record

Special mention is made here of the new record made yesterday morning by R. F. Smith of Minot when he covered the course of 9 holes in 35 shots. To do this Mr. Smith had to average better than four shots to every hole which requires an unusual amount of skill with the driver, brassie, midiron and putter. The nature of the local course is such that a bounding ball is very apt to roll badly thus costing the player another shot. Mr. Smith was cool at all times and played a brilliant game.

Leaders of the movement say it is endorsed by Episcopal clergymen of New York and by numerous judges throughout the country.

Rev. Gwynne and those associated with him plan to wage a vigorous campaign throughout the country for the amendment, holding that the great number of divorces and the ease with which they are obtained is a serious danger to the nation.

CITY HAS 7,039
PEOPLE IN NEW
CENSUS FIGURES

Notification Received of Boost by the Washington Census Bureau

STILL DEMAND RECOUNT

Bismarck has 7,039 residents, according to new figures of the census bureau made public here today. This represents an increase from the previous figure of 6,971 but does not satisfy local people who have declared the census figures did not show the real population of the city. The population is in excess of 8,000, officials of the Bismarck Commercial club believe and the demand for a recount has not been withdrawn.

Figures Given

When the population was announced as 6,971 a disappointing figure the Commercial club protested. Secretary George S. Keniston presented to the census bureau in Washington more than 500 names gathered by the club which had not been included in the census.

The revision of the population was made after these names were filed and Mr. Keniston was notified today of the revision. The new figures give the city a rate of growth of 28.4 per cent over the 1910 figures and is indicative of the progress of the city.

Recount Premised

When the demand for the recount was made it was presented by Congressman George L. Young, and he obtained promise from the bureau that the recount would be made if it has not been made however.

With a registration of approximately 1,600 voters we believe the city has a population of something over 8,000, said Mr. Keniston today.

The assessment figures for the year completed a few weeks ago shows that there are 631 more persons to pay personal property tax in the city this year than last.

GERMANS SIGN
ALLIED DEMAND
UNDER PROTEST

Acquiesce in Disarmament Note Amount to Virtual Ultimatum Presented by Allies

OCCUPATION THREATENED

German Cabinet Protests that Versailles Treaty Did Not Admit Further Occupation

Spa, Belgium, July 9.—Germany's delegates signed at 11:45 o'clock this morning an agreement accepting the terms of the allied note relative to disarmament presented yesterday. This action was taken under protest by the German representatives.

The allied note, which amounted actually to an ultimatum, demanded that the Germans accept the terms presented by noon today and stipulated that in the event of the Germans failing to carry out the provisions of the demands, allied forces would occupy parts of Germany.

The Germans protested in signing the agreement that the treaty of Versailles did not obligate them to acquiesce in further territorial occupation except for failure to fulfill the treaty terms regarding reparation.

The decision of the German cabinet to obey the allied demand was reached at an early morning session, the vote being unanimous. The vote was taken after telephonic communication with the Reichstag leaders in Berlin approving the acceptance and communicating the decision of the Reichstag to the cabinet at Spa to use their own judgment.

Terms of Note
The allied disarmament note was communicated to Berlin early yesterday at (chancellor) Fehrenbach's request with the direction that it be submitted to the Reichstag and to the leaders of all the parties, whether supporters of the government or the opposition.

The final decision of the allies sets forth that Germany must:

First: Immediately disarm certain of its forces including the security police.

Second: Publish a proclamation asking for the immediate surrender of all weapons and firearms in the hands of the civil population.

Third: Abolish immediately compulsory service.

Fourth: Surrender to the allies all arms guns and cannon which it possesses above the limit fixed by the treaty of Versailles.

The allied version concerning disarmament reads: "If on October 1 the German army is not reduced to 100,000 the allies will proceed to occupy German territory in the Ruhr or any other part of German territory and will not evaluate it until all the conditions of the present agreement have been fulfilled."

New York, July 9.—Two armed men bound and gagged the watchman in the warehouse of the United States Textile alliance warehouse in Hoboken today and hauled away 20 boxes of German dyes valued at $15,000.

The rest of the damage was done to tracks, bridges and buildings.

MEXICAN RULE

Provisional President Declares They Have Not Menacing Force

Mexico City, July 9.—Five generals have taken up arms against the new Mexican government. Provisional President De La Huerta told foreign correspondents last night but he declared they did not constitute a military force since they had but few followers.

The Carranza government, said De La Huerta, laughing, stood for more than four years against over 25,000 rebels and there is no reason why the present government cannot contend with less than 500.

Questioned further relative to military matters, he said 15,000 soldiers were demobilized in June and about 7,000 so far this month. Most of them have been sent to sections of the country where they have been set to work cultivating idle land.

ENGLISH LUTHERAN CHURCH TO ESTABLISH FINE INSTITUTION
IN CITY IN THE NEAR FUTURE

Plans Are Completed at Conference Here for Location of College to Serve Great Northwest Territory—Twenty-five Acre Site to be Obtained With Aid of Bismarck Commercial Club—Church Officials Praise Bismarck as Place for Location of Higher Institution of Learning

The English Lutheran church will build a large college in Bismarck.

Positive announcement was made today, following a conference between M. J. Bieber, superintendent of missions of the Northwest for the church; Rev. W. S. Ulrich, district missionary for North Dakota, and directors of the Bismarck Commercial club.

A site for the college will be obtained immediately, and building plans will be completed in the near future.

The decision to locate the college in Bismarck follows a long investigation by the heads of the Lutheran synod of the northwest, and based upon the favorable reports made by those who investigated the synod authorized the location of the college in Bismarck.

Pleased with City
The church heads are well pleased with Bismarck as the seat for a college and they intend to make the institution one of the largest and best that the church conducts.

It will have the following departments: College of commerce, conservatory of music, college of liberal arts and a Lutheran theological seminary.

The conservatory of music probably will be located in the center of the city while the college will be in the suburbs or beyond the city limits.

Several sites offered by the Commercial club have been inspected by the church heads and a selection will be made soon.

Fills Great Need
The college will fill a long felt want for the church. There now is no college maintained by the church between Winnipeg and Bismarck.

A college is located at Spokane, Wash. The Bismarck institution therefore will be the central place of learning for a great territory in the northwest.

It is estimated that 70 per cent of the church members in North Dakota are of the Lutheran denomination. It was said by those who attended the conference.

The college will make a particular appeal to North Dakota young men and young women. It will be a co-educational institution and to those of other states.

The institution will emphasize the English language. It is said and will be thoroughly modern in all methods of instruction.

Club Heads Aid
C. J. Young, president of the Commercial club and Geo. N. Keniston, secretary, who have given co-operation and aid to the Lutheran heads in working out the plans for the college are enthusiastic over the prospect. They believe that the institution not only will be a great benefit to the city but will offer excellent facilities for young men and women on the central parts of North Dakota which they do not now enjoy.

Sees Future for City
Rev. Ulrich highly praised Bismarck. He was especially impressed by the friendliness and enthusiasm of the people of the city, the progressiveness of the city government as shown by the paving program and the well kept appearance of the homes of the city.

He foresees a great future for Bismarck, and believes that within another ten years it will be the largest city in North Dakota. Situated in the center of distribution for a large area with the Missouri Slope country developing rapidly he is as confident in the city's future as the people of Bismarck themselves.

The presence of the state capital and its library facilities is another factor in the location of the college here.

The educational program of the Lutheran church is one of the broadest of any religious denomination. Colleges and theological seminaries are dotted all over the United States, development in the northwest having been the slowest of any part of the country.

G. O. P. REDUCED BUDGET OF U. S., GOOD DECLARES

Nearly Three Billion Cut from Appropriations by Republican Congress

ANSWERS THE PRESIDENT

Refutes Statement that Republicans Have Dodged or Refused to Amend Tax Laws

(Special to The Tribune)

Washington, July 8. Representative James W. Good, chairman of the committee on appropriations in the house of representatives, replying to President Wilson's charge that Congress had taken no important legislative action tending towards a reduction in the high cost of living and a revision of the tax laws, declares that in the last two sessions the republican congress saved $2,710,290,495.80, by making reductions from the appropriations estimated by the executive departments of the government.

Representative Good emphasizes the fact that the committee on justice has all the legislative authority it requested for the prosecution of criminals including profiteers violating the Lever act. "The committee on appropriations of the house of representatives to which these requests had been referred held extensive hearings," said Mr. Good. "That committee gave the $1,000,000 it requested and came to the conclusion that much of the other money, if appropriated, would be wasted in the employment of useless officers and clerks; that much of it was to carry on a duplication of work in these various departments, and that the appropriations it made in full, would be largely, if not entirely wasted."

Refers to Statement

Mr. Good referred to a statement of Victor Murdock, chairman of the federal trade commission, to show that President Wilson had approved of an appropriation for the commission of $500,000, an amount far in excess of what it actually required to do its work. According to Mr. Good, $150,000

OLD POLITICIAN TELLS WHY COX WON AT FRISCO

McAdoo Couldn't be Nominated and Palmer Couldn't Win the Election

SAYS BOSSES WERE LICKED

Strong Party Leaders Wanted McAdoo but Taint of Suspected Control Hurt

San Francisco, July 8.—James M. Cox was chosen as the Democratic presidential nominee because William G. McAdoo couldn't be nominated, and A. Mitchell Palmer couldn't be elected.

A veteran politician who refused to permit his name to be used, thus tersely described the reason for ending the deadlock that had tied up the convention from the time balloting began Friday until early today.

He expressed the belief that only with Cox or McAdoo, could the Democrats hope for success in the November elections. Most of the strong party leaders were lined up with Cox, he said, but even this backing would have been fruitless, had not a number of independent delegations finally swung to the Ohioan.

Now It Was Done.

"The bosses were licked, even in putting their candidate over," declared this politician, who is by way of being somewhat of a "boss" himself. "They put everything they had behind Cox, but it was only when the delegates finally decided themselves that they wanted him that he was nominated. This convention, to my mind, demonstrated that a group of independent delegates acting without leadership, could have kept the convention deadlocked all summer had they chosen."

"The Democratic nominee was decided upon about 2 a. m. all right, but it was out in the open, with more than a thousand persons—men and women—sitting in, and probably 10,000 others looking on.

Back in the early days of the pre-convention campaign, McAdoo was generally regarded as the strongest of the Democratic candidates. But he and Cox refused to make a campaign. Palmer was the only aspirant to carry the fight outside his home state. Palmer came to San Francisco—the only one of the 'Big Three' to appear personally on the battleground—with the lead in instructed delegates.

McAdoo's Withdrawal.

"Before the convention opened, McAdoo issued a statement announcing his 'irrevocable' withdrawal. Such organization as had been built up around him was irreparably shattered. Many delegates who favored him took it upon themselves to mend his fences in a haphazard way. At the head of this loosely organized 'political mob' sprang Thomas B. Love of Texas, Samuel Amidon of Kansas, Dr. Burris Jenkins of Missouri, Stewart Gibbons and George R. Lunn of New York and Robert Wooley of Washington, D. C.

E. H. Moore, national committeeman from Ohio, was chief of the Cox campaign organization. With him was openly allied Wilbur Marsh of Iowa, while Charles F. Murphy, Tammany leader and George Brennan of Illinois, were known to lean favorably toward the Ohio governor. Thomas Taggart of Indiana, wanted either Cox or McAdoo.

Heading the Palmer camp was Charles C. Carlin of Virginia. His chief lieutenant was Charles B. Spelacy of Connecticut.

The Cox strategy was by far the most ably planned and executed. The balloting opened with McAdoo in the lead, Palmer second and Cox third, with considerable strength in reserve. McAdoo was soon passed by Cox. The lead then alternated between the Ohioan and McAdoo. Palmer was never better than third after the seventh ballot. Murphy and Brennan came out openly for Cox. When the deadlock became apparent, Cox, McAdoo and Palmer, in turn were each "given a run for their money."

Get Together Efforts.

During each recess, tentative efforts were made to get together but the only basis on which a compromise could be reached was a "dark horse" and leaders were unwilling to concede that their man had lost all chance for the nomination. McAdoo and Cox virtually on a par when Palmer, through Carlin, released his delegates. The majority of these freed votes promptly lined up with Cox, putting him well in the lead. Taggart, who had swung the Indiana delegation to McAdoo several ballots previously, then turned to Cox. The fourth and final ballot, the Pennsylvania delegation—the nucleus of Palmer's strength, and after he released it principally for McAdoo—went to Cox.

Washington, July 8.—The shipping board is not considering "closed shop" arrangements in American ports, Chairman Benson announced today in answer to a number of protests against a reported effort of the board to obtain exclusive control of longshoremen work on its vessels.

"As is proper in the public service, the shipping board stands for maintenance of equality of opportunity for employment on its vessels for all properly qualified men, regardless of affiliation with any particular organization," the chairman stated.

"No change is contemplated in the present arrangements for longshore work on shipping board vessels which continue under existing agreements until Oct. 1 of the current year."

CAR SERVICE TO IMPROVE WITHIN 10 DAYS IN WEST

Chicago, July 8.—If the car situation can be held so that conditions do not become any worse, it is believed by rail officials that in ten days a material improvement will be shown in the western territory. The commission order sending 26,000 empty grain cars from the east to the west is in process of execution, but because of slow movement results are not yet in evidence.

The big western road covering Iowa, rather extensively at this time of the year usually has 5,000 empty grain cars on side tracks, in that state awaiting the grain movement. It was said. This year that line has not a single empty car in Iowa. Many railroad men, however, are of the opinion that it is not wise to store cars, as it tends to create famines in other localities they say.

Wind a Handicap.

The wind badly handicapped the golfers yesterday. It was especially difficult to drive accurately as the wind gave the ball tendency to depart from its true course.

Some very good exhibitions of golf were displayed in the local tournament. It is seldom that the people of Bismarck have an opportunity to witness such a brand of putting and driving as visiting golfers are showing at the Country club this week.

With the best golfers of the state competing for first honors much is expected when the contest narrows down to the semi-finals. At this time it is hard to pick winners but officials say that from the dope they now have on hand indications are that at least one or two Bismarck men may reach semi-finals and possibly go further.

When one stops to think that Chic Evans, Francis Outmet, R. Knepper and other golfers of national fame seldom score lower than 35 while their average count is 40, one should feel highly elated when North Dakota stars have been making from 41 to 45 while competing against a bad wind.

Fair Golfers Good.
The women also demonstrated their ability with the "clubs" today. Many of them making very good scores considering the obstacles they had to contend with.

The out-of-town players appear to like the Bismarck course. Many of them praise the greens.

FEDERAL JUDGE HITS RELEASE OF CATTLEMAN

Chicago, July 8.—Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, in a statement, addressed from the bench to members of the bar, today criticized the action of President Wilson in commuting the sentence of James Dorey, reputed millionaire cattleman of Gilbert, Ill., from eight years to four.

"I wonder what frame of mind he must have been in to cut such a sentence," the judge said. "Dorey was convicted of selling 12,000 head of cattle in which he used the mails to advertise as full-blooded Holsteins. When the animals were delivered it developed they were common stock."

JOHNSON BACKS HARDING; STOPS NEW PARTY TALK

Californian Says G. O. P. Candidate "Stands Foursquare on Platform of His Party"

LEAGUE DOMINANT ISSUE

Senator Declares Party's Platform Declaration's on Covenant Makes it Vital Election Question

San Francisco, July 9.—Support of the republican party "with a candidate standing foursquare upon the platform" is the only choice left "those who believe in safeguarding, protecting and preserving our Americanism," Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California declared in a statement at his home here.

While Senator Johnson comes out for Senator W. G. Harding, the republican presidential nominee, he does not mention his name in the statement.

The statement was expected by politicians here to stop the use of Johnson's name in connection with the forming of a third party by William Randolph Hearst and others. Hearst has looked upon Senator Johnson as the probable standard bearer for the third ticket.

League Made Election Issue. "For more than a year the contest over the president's League of Nations has been waged in congress," Senator Johnson's statement said. It has been the all engrossing and paramount issue. Of necessity, this issue came to the conventions of the two great political parties. Both republicans and democrats, in their platform have indulged in the usual political verbiage, but nevertheless these platforms, in direct opposition to each other, sharply define and clearly present the question for decision in the November election.

"The republican party declared that the president's League of Nations was to accomplish its purpose, and contained stipulations not only intolerable for an independent people, but certain to produce the injustice, hostility and controversy among nations which it proposed to prevent and repudiated to a degree wholly unnecessary and unjustifiable the time honored policies in favor of peace declared by Washington, Jefferson and Monroe."

Party Stand. "The republican party stands, therefore, firmly against the president's covenant, as presented, denounces it as brooding war rather than promoting peace and reaffirms the time honored, notional old policies of Washington, Jefferson and Monroe.

The democratic party, on the other hand, rejected every effort to modify or qualify the president's proposed League of Nations, endorsed the president's attitude and took its position in favor of the league as presented. It is true that the democrats in effort to placate, say something about reservations which might make clearer or more specific the obligations of the United States, but the language is meaningless and does not alter the essential position of the democratic party for the league as represented.

"The two parties acted in similar fashion in one respect, but from different motives and for different reasons. Both rejected the pleas for adoption of the league with reservations, the democrats because they were for the league as presented, and the republicans because no reservations devised by the human mind could anticipate the contingencies which might arise in the future from an instrument of potential possibilities for harm.

Harding Stands on Platform. "Thus the issue finally comes from the forum of congress to the final arbitrament of the American people. The overshadowing question in the campaign, therefore, is whether we enter the maelstrom of European and Asiatic policies and diplomacy and become a part of the cynical imperialism of the old world or whether America shall live her life in her own way, independent, unfettered, mindful always of her obligations to humanity and civilization, but free to act as each crisis shall arise, and maintaining always the policy of Washington and Jefferson and Monroe, of friendship with all nations, entangling alliances with none.

"With a candidate standing four square upon the platform, the issue leaves those who believe in safeguarding, protecting and preserving our Americanism, but one choice, and that is to support the republican party."

The White House was modeled after the palace of the Duke of Leinster.

OLD STEAMBOAT WHISTLE COMES BACK TO AID TRANSPORTATION

Washington, July 9.—Because of increasing freight congestion, with no relief in sight until more railroad rolling stock can be built, the government is taking steps to develop to the fullest extent the facilities it now has for handling transportation by water. The old steamboat whistle is coming back.

This enterprise is expected partially to offset the costs of increased freight rates on railroads.

Not only will the territories traversed by navigable rivers and small lakes benefit, but sections dependent wholly on rail transportation will be helped. Every ton of freight carried by water will release a ton of car space for inland points.

VICE WAR GIVEN IMPETUS BY AID OF WM. H. TAFT

Committee of Fifteen in Chicago Wars on Commercial Vice and Attack Landlords

Chicago, Ill., July 9.—Fresh impetus was given the committee of fifteen's fight on commercial vice in Chicago by the recent address of former President William Howard Taft at the committee's annual banquet.

"No such trade can be carried on unless the owners of city property rent or lease it for the purpose," said Mr. Taft. "The Committee of Fifteen have found out who the owners are of the property in the red light districts and have prosecuted them, giving them notice an opportunity to stop this unlawful use of their property before taking legal proceedings. They have secured an admiral law, by which, when they ascertain that property is being thus unlawfully used, they can file a bill or an injunction against its further use and thus abate a nuisance, and compel the property to lie idle for a year."

The members of the committee are engaged in fighting an evil which is peculiarly tenacious in a great city where municipal politics come close to the ground, and in which vice corruption and blackmail too frequently play an important part. It needs courage to fight the criminal purposes and facilities of the underworld but the Committee of Fifteen and its supporters have had the courage and shrewdness and common sense needed to win. They have so minimized commercialized vice in Chicago, as greatly to reduce its harmful and noxious results. They must keep at it, however—eternal vigilance is the price of its victory.

In presenting his annual report Supt. S. P. Thrasher said that since the injunction and abatement law went into effect in Illinois in July, 1915, the committee had written 988 informal notices. "Of that number," he said, "807 owners or agents have taken such action as to make it unnecessary to proceed further under the law. One hundred and eighty-one of them have been careless or defiant (I think in most cases it was carelessness rather than defiance) and the second or formal notice under the injunction law has been necessary. This law has proved so effective that only 16 injunctions have been applied for an secured. In all but two of them the injunction has accomplished all that could be desired. These two have recently defied the law and require further attention by the committee."

"We are having amicable and effective cooperation with owners and agents of property which we find to be used for immoral purposes. During the year covered by this report, 86 per cent of owners and agents notified of the illegal use of their property have acted promptly to correct the conditions—of which we complained."

The Committee of Fifteen was organized in 1908 by 15 prominent citizens to fight the white slave traffic in Chicago. Supt. Thrasher reports it has grown to include more than 500 citizens and had a directorate of 50. The executive committee chosen from the directors retains a membership of 15.

Expenses are met by contributions. At the meeting at which Mr. Taft spoke, Supt. Thrasher reports the committee was refinanced for the next five years.

TOWNLEY PLEADS FOR $1,000,000 CAMPAIGN FUND

Scores Minnesota Farmers When They Do Not Respond in Great Numbers to His Plea

THREATENS TO WITHDRAW

(St. Paul Dispatch.)
Dr. Henrik Shipstead, George Mallon, Thomas V. Sullivan et al. will run as candidates for state office in the November election on the Farmer-Labor ticket.

This announcement was made yesterday afternoon by A. C. Townley, boss of the Nonpartisan league, who pleaded with 800 leaguers to raise a fund of $1,000,000 to "put their ticket across."

So that Shipstead and his co-candidates can run on the Farmer-Labor ticket, the candidates on that ticket must be withdrawn. This will be done, Townley said, "if it can be arranged." Otherwise the Shipstead ticket will be filed by petition.

Ire of Boss Aroused. Townley threatened, scolded, pleaded with his hearers at the Nonpartisan League convention in the Minneapolis auditorium yesterday afternoon and aroused great enthusiasm until the subject of money was mentioned.

The league boss said that he wanted $100 each from 100 men in each of the counties of Minnesota. He asked men who would volunteer such subscriptions to stand. Some thirty or forty men arose. This aroused the ire of the league boss.

"Too many of you farmers are sitting back on your haunches," Townley said, "content with having spent your $16. One of the hardest things to do is to get money out of the farmers for their own good."

The enemy is spending billions. You all know how much they spent in Michigan to put one senator across. They will spend more than that in Minnesota.

Threatens to "Desert." "You have been messing around too much with things and the time has now come when the league must fall by the wayside or be put on a firm financial basis."

Townley threatened to withdraw from the league unless his plan for a big campaign fund is adopted. "If you want to handle this campaign," he said, "on a decent basis, you can put in your own organization and run things until you find that they can't be run on such a basis. On the other hand, if you raise a man-sized fund, I'll stay with you while there is breath in my body. If there isn't manhood enough among the members of the league to raise a fund that will match that raised by the enemy, I am through. Personally, I don't care whether you raise the money or not."

No Hope of Reward. "No, Mr. Townley, no, no, no, no, no. I have no hope of reward for my work for the league," Townley said, "except the knowledge that I have done something for the common people. I have no home. I buy a new hat only when the old one is unfit to wear. I buy new shoes only when the old ones are ready to fall off. And the league organizers do not care whether the money is raised or not. They are 'self-sacrificing men.' Townley said, "when they go without their salaries when the league treasury is low."

The Farmer-Labor ticket now is headed by Cyrus King of Deer River, who, if Townley has his way, must go the way of the other kings.

BANKER SAILS FOR FRANCE

New York, July 9.—James Speyer head of the international banking house bearing his name, sailed today for Europe on the steamship Olympic. Mr. Speyer will combine business with pleasure. As his firm recently purchased a large block of St. Louis San Francisco Railway Company securities from the French government, the financial district believes that his business dealings abroad will include negotiations for buying additional American securities from the French.

Owing to the big amount at which French francs are now quoted the sale of American securities to New York bankers by France yields handsome profits, notwithstanding the fact that the quoted price of bonds are far under what were paid by the French many years ago.

URGES $1,500 MINIMUM WAGE FOR TEACHERS

Clean-cut Recommendation Also Made Against Affiliation With Other Groups

Salt Lake City, Utah, July 9.—The National Education Association's "commission on the emergency in education" made a clear-cut recommendation against affiliation of teachers with any "religious, political or economic groups" in a report presented to the association today.

The report read by George D. Strayer of Columbia University, vice president of the association said "Teachers as a unit cannot federate with labor and that at the same time hope to keep the confidence of the whole people."

On salaries the report asserted $1,500 was the minimum necessary for "existence," without provision for the future, and said that $1,800 annually was necessary to assure the average teacher economic independence.

The question of affiliation of teachers' organizations with labor bodies was not mentioned.

"CAN'T DELIVER LABOR VOTE," SAYS SAMUEL GOMPERS

Chicago, July 9.—It was a happy selection particularly with the problem that confronted the convention," asserted Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, yesterday when asked the question: "What do you think of Governor Cox's nomination?"

"Will labor support the Democratic nominee?"

"There is no such thing as swinging the labor vote. The national nonpartisan campaign committee of the American Federation of Labor will meet in Washington in a few days and make a statement as to the candidate for president. We do not pretend to dictate for whom the workers shall vote. We do not carry their vote around. We simply give the facts pertaining to each candidate and the platforms of the two parties, and then let the voters act on their best judgment."

LITTLE TRADE TO COME FROM SOVIET RUSSIA

Lifting of Restrictions by United States Can Not Overcome Impaired Credit

NO RECOGNITION INVOLVED

Trade Has Been Prohibited Since Bolshevik Gained Control

Washington, July 9.—Decreasing production and impaired credit in Soviet Russia will, officials believe, make impossible any material increase in commerce.

Restrictions on trade with Soviet Russia were removed by the state department, except insofar as they pertain to the shipments of materials susceptible to immediate use for war purposes.

An individual export license must be obtained for the shipment of such materials and it was announced that such licenses would be granted only in exceptional cases.

Individual export licenses also will be required for the export to Russia of locomotives, railroad materials and rolling stock, and motor cars and component parts.

The state department's action, while taken independently of other nations, followed extensive exchanges between the United States and Great Britain and France. It is believed to have been hastened by the recent negotiations between Gregory Krassia representing the Bolshevik government and Premier Lloyd George looking to the resumption of trade between Great Britain and Russia.

No Recognition Proposed

The state department took particular pains to state that political recognition, present or future, of any Russian authority exercising or claiming to exercise governmental functions was neither granted or intended. It also emphasized that individual corporations trading with Russia would do so on their own responsibility, and at their own risk, as this government could offer no protection to Americans going to Russia or trading with Russia.

The statement also was made by the department that indications were that Russia had only a small quantity of raw materials for export; that its purchasing power was very limited, and that consequently there would not be any considerable trade with that country.

"American citizens availing themselves of the present relaxation of restrictions are warned against the risks incident to the acceptance of commodities or other values, or the title which may later be brought into question."

"Passports for Russia cannot be issued. Since it is not desirable at this time to undertake negotiations with the Soviet postal authorities the postoffice department will be unable to accept mail from or to Soviet Russia."

This formal announcement was supplemented by the following statement:

U. S. Attitude Unchanged

"The attitude of the United States towards the recognition of any faction in control in Soviet Russia has not changed. This government is not willing to lend positive assistance to a faction whose disregard of the principles of democracy is evidenced at home by the maintenance of a minor tyranny, and abroad by an insidious campaign of propaganda to subvert popular governmental institutions expressive of the will of the majority."

Trade between the United States and Russia has been prohibited since the Bolsheviks gained control in that country a year before the end of the world war. Even before that time it had been limited because of the demoralized conditions of Russian railroads. Some export of war material had been sent to Vladivostok and Archangel, but much of it never was moved to the interior.

Requests that the state department lift the ban on trading with the Soviet have been made by many American exporting and other business firms.

STATE FIGURES OUT AUGUST 1

Official results of the primary of June 30 probably will not be compiled before the last of the month, or the first of August.

Canvassing boards met throughout the state, beginning yesterday, and they are required to send unofficial returns to the secretary of state within twenty days. Reports usually are delayed and it is doubtful if a meeting of the state canvassing board can be held before July 30.

ADMITS OWNING DEATH PISTOLS

Chicago, July 9.—Lieut. Carl Wanderer, whose wife and an unidentified man were killed at the entrance of the Wanderer apartment house several weeks ago admitted to the police today that both guns used in the double killing belonged to him.

He had previously maintained that the stranger killed his wife in an attempted holdup and that he then drew his gun and shot the holdup. Police traced the gun and found it had been in Wanderer's possession several days before the shooting. The former army officer then said he traded guns with the dead man in his admission of ownership of both guns. He claimed that the stranger furnished one gun away from him and killed Mrs. Wanderer.

Heat Saps Power; Store up Energy

Keep digestion perfect with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and you will have strength to work

SUMMER is the season of vacations, of slowing up in work. And there is a good reason for it. Heat is enervating and work quickly tires. But people must work, and we should all keep ourselves in such fine physical condition that we can do our share even in hot weather.

Of first importance is to see that there is a regularity of bowel elimination. If you skip a day you are constipated. Constipation, especially in summer, is quickly followed by fatigue, loss of appetite, chills and colds. There is no energy for work.

When you feel constipated and out of sorts, more tired than you know the circumstances warrant, take a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This delightful laxative-herb is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin and can be bought at any drug store.

Syrup Pepsin will quickly relieve your constipation and give you a feeling of lightness and clear headedness.

FREE Millions of people of all ages suffer from occasional or chronic constipation. Let them send name and address to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 512 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., for a free sample bottle of his wonderful Syrup Pepsin. 8 million bottles were bought at drug stores last year, the largest sale in the world.

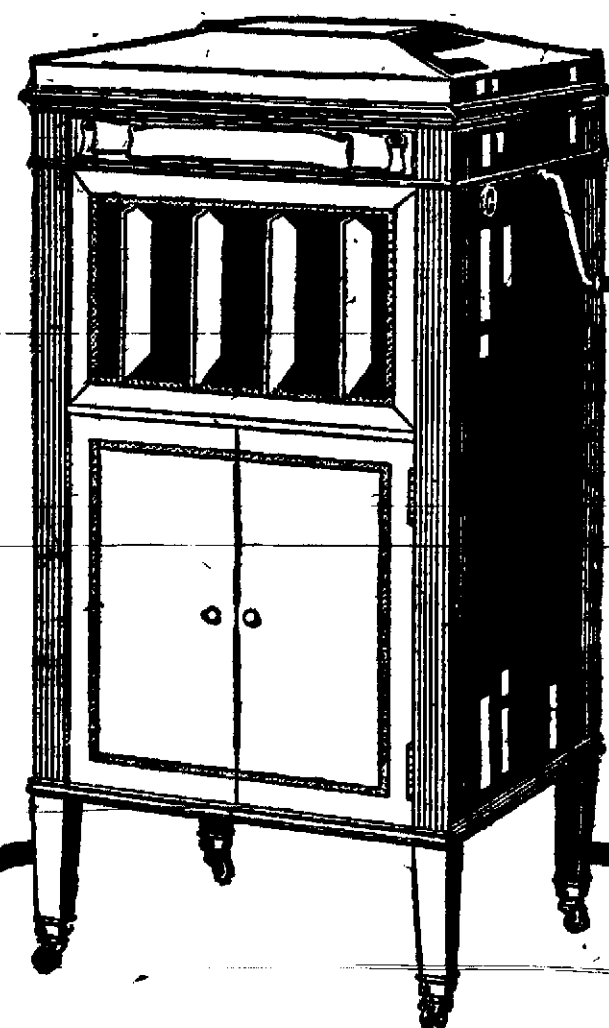

Mr. Walter of 411 Monte St., San Francisco, had to quit work because of constipation, colds and a train of other ills. He took Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and promptly recovered his health and strength and is now at work again.

You will make no mistake getting yourself a bottle of Syrup Pepsin and taking a little at the first sign of constipation.

NATIONAL HEAD OF THE LEGION COMING TO CITY

Franklin D'Olier Will be Guest of Bismarck Post on Aug. 21—Celebration to be Held Franklin D'Olier, of Philadelphia, Pa., national commander of the American Legion, will spend Saturday, August 21, in Bismarck, and a great reception will be accorded him.

P. G. Harrington, adjutant of the Bismarck post, received advice today of Mr. D'Olier's impending visit. The national commander is returning to the east from the Pacific coast, and the Bismarck stop is the only one he will be able to make in North Dakota.

The national commander desired to be present at the Minot state convention of the legion, which will be held on August 27 and 28, but is unable to make the visit.

The local post plans to hold a big celebration, perhaps a field day, to entertain the legion head. Posts from surrounding counties will be invited to co-operate in the reception.

State Commander C. A. Dawson, of Fargo, will be here for the day.

EDUCATORS WILL MEET NEXT WEEK AT VALLEY CITY

The midyear meeting of county superintendents will be held at Valley City next week, it was announced here today.

The first of the sessions, which will be presided over by Miss Minnie J. Nielson, state superintendent of public instruction, will be held next Tuesday night. Dr. Ralph Johnson, of Girard college, Philadelphia, will speak on "Psychology."

Wednesday will be "shop day" and Wednesday pupils of the normal school present a pageant, entitled "Light." Thursday will be known as "teacher training" day and on Friday the superintendents will motor to several consolidated schools and discuss methods of promoting them throughout the state.

PURCHASE NEW LAUNDRY MACHINE

The Capital Steam Laundry is always keeping up to the times with new modern machinery. In order that they might give their customers the very best kind of work in laundering, they have just installed a new modern machine for ironing shirt sleeves for ladies' shirtwaists, as well as men's shirts. This machine is the newest in laundry equipment, being the only one of its kind west of Fargo. This machine is a steam-heated form-type, and in its work there is no danger whatsoever of tearing or causing any wear to the most delicate of fabrics.

RENNVILLE CROPS ARE IN DANGER

Grasshoppers seriously threaten the wheat crop in Renville and other counties in the north and northwestern part of the state, according to reports received at the statehouse.

A telegram was received at the governor's office stating that the wheat crop, estimated to be worth $30,000,000 in Renville county faced serious damage unless financial aid in purchasing poison to combat the insects was given.

LICENSING IS NOT CHANGED

The state licensing department will continue to be operated under the direction of the attorney general's office, as a result of the repeal of the state sheriff law in the primary.

The department was to be transferred to the state sheriff, if the law were upheld. As a result of the publicity given the act taking the licensing department from the attorney general on July 1, many dealers have obtained the mistaken impression that the licensing department had been abolished.

The gross annual income of moving picture theaters in this country is about $750,000,000,000.

URGES TRAFFIC BUREAU TO AID BUSINESS MEN

Minot Commercial Club Secretary Speaks at Commercial Club Dinner

The formation of a traffic bureau by North Dakota business men was urged by W. E. Halbein, secretary of the Minot Commercial club, in an address to business men of Bismarck at luncheon at the Grand Pacific hotel following a luncheon at noon today. The meeting was held under the auspices of the local Commercial club.

The speech was illustrated by instances of where business men have been aided by traffic bureaus, which have found discrimination in freight rates and obtained adjustments.

Need Own Bureau
"Of late years traffic bureaus have sprung up in the larger cities of the east and they have sent men into North Dakota to sell memberships to our shippers at $25.00 for the privilege of having the shippers expense bills audited on a 50-50 basis," said Mr. Halbein. "They have been doing a thriving business. Then rumors came to us that the shippers were having a hard time securing the money for their allowed claims. They were informed by the railroads that their claims were allowed and had been paid to these so-called traffic bureaus but the shipper never got his money for it was even harder to pry it loose from the traffic bureau than it was from the railroads in the first place."

He told how he started to locate factories in his city and how he found freight rate discriminations.

"We began to think Minot and North Dakota in particular were singled against," he said.

Business men of the state must form a bureau of their own to protect themselves and secure fair rates, he said.

DENIES STRIKE CAUSED FAILURE OF INTERCHURCH

Chairman of Committee Which Investigated Steel Strikes Talks on Rumors

New York, July 9.—Dr. Daniel A. Polling, Vice Chairman of the committee of the Interchurch World Movement which investigated the steel strike of last fall, yesterday joined James M. Speers, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Interchurch, in denying that this investigation was the cause of the downfall of the Interchurch Movement.

"The executive officers of the Interchurch World Movement do not believe that the present crisis in the movement's affairs in any way due to the activities of its investigating commission," said Dr. Polling. "nor do we believe that this is the cause of the withdrawal of financial support by men, or groups of men, who may have taken exception to the program of the movement's industrial relations department."

"Furthermore, no evidence tending to support such a conclusion has ever been presented to the Executive officers. The Executive Committee of the Interchurch has at no time made an effort to suppress the report of the Investigating Commission. The vote to publish the report was unanimous. Whatever effort may have been made by individuals outside of the committee to bring about another decision does not alter the facts of the case."

Businessmen on Committee
The Executive Committee which unanimously voted for the publication of the report has many men of large business interests upon it, outstanding leaders of the financial world."

Dr. Polling pointed out that certain men specifically referred to in some press reports "are unfortunately, entirely misapprehended."

"Whatever the sources of the information and rumors, the executive officers of the interchurch have felt that there should be no interviews from the headquarters of the organization in advance of the publication of the report itself," said Dr. Polling. "they have at no time issued statements beyond answering direct questions and quickly challenging the charge that the report was to be suppressed."

The Chairman of the Interchurch Commission that investigated the steel strike was Bishop Francis J. McConnell, Methodist, of Denver. Others on this commission were Bishop Charles D. Williams of Michigan, Bishop William Melvin Bell of the United Brethren Church, Harrisburg, Pa.; Mrs. Fred S. Bennett of Englewood, N. Y., President of the Women's Presbyterian Board of Home Missions; the Rev. Dr. James I. Vance, Nashville, Tenn.; the Rev. Dr. John M. Dowell, Professor, Alva W. Taylor, George W. Coleman and Dr. Nicholas van der Pyle.

To Be Made Public Soon
The report is in the hands of the printers, and Dr. Polling announced it would be made public.

Despite rumors to the contrary, the fact that the Interchurch had investigated the steel strike was not brought up at either the General Assembly or the Presbyterian Church, held at Philadelphia, or at the Northern Baptist Convention in Buffalo, N. Y. Both of these denominations withdrew from the Interchurch, the Presbyterians agreeing to pay $1,000,000 and the Baptists $2,300,000 for which they had underwritten the movement.

An attempt will be made to reorganize the Interchurch, and both Mr. Speers and Dr. Polling have declared that the steel strike investigation does not figure in the plans for this meeting.

ST. PAUL WOMAN COULDN'T RAISE HER HAND TO HEAD

"Tanlac has done me so much good and I am so thankful for it that it is a real pleasure for me to tell others about it," said Mrs. Theresia Schneider, 1033 Edmond avenue, St. Paul, Minn.

"Before I began taking Tanlac I was in a badly rundown, weakened condition. My appetite was extremely poor, and after meals I suffered terribly from the formation of gas. At times I had awful dizzy spells and when one came on me I had to sit right down to keep from falling. I also suffered with intense pains in my back and shoulders, the pain in my shoulders being so bad I could not raise my hand to my head. I had no energy and just felt so tired and worn out all the time I could hardly manage to do my housework. I could not sleep well and got up every morning with a headache which grew worse during the day until I could hardly stand it."

"I had noticed several statements from friends of mine praising Tanlac and decided I would try it myself, and while I have taken only three bottles so far I am glad to say I am just about rid of all my troubles. I have a splendid appetite and can eat anything I want in such quantity as I desire without ever having a sign of gas afterwards. The headaches I had every morning are entirely gone and I never get dizzy any more. The pains in my back and shoulders left me soon after I started taking Tanlac and I can use my arms and hands as freely as I ever could. That tired, worn-out feeling is all gone and I can do my housework with the greatest ease. I am glad of this opportunity to tell what a grand medicine I think Tanlac is."

Tanlac is sold in Bismarck by Jos. Breslow, in Driscoll by N. D. and J. H. Barrette, in Wing by H. P. Humann, and in Strausburg by Strausburg Drug Co. —adv.

SUGAR SUPPLY MORE LIBERAL, SAYS BULLETIN

Decline in Price Noted, Says Report of Biggest Refining Company

New York, July 9.—The sugar situation in the United States appears more hopeful, from the current issue of the Sugar Bulletin, issued weekly by the American Sugar Refining Company. There was a further decline last week in the price of raws, while the demand for refined eased up a bit, with slight reduction in price. The American is quoted at 22.50 cents f. o. b. New York, National 22; Arbuckle, 24; Federal for July and August, 26; Warner for the same months, 24.

"The decline noted toward the close of last week," says the Bulletin under the head of "Raws," "has continued during the week under review, and full duty sugars sold on Wednesday at 17 1/4 cents, cost, insurance and freight, and Cuban sugars on Thursday at 17 1/4 cents, cost and freight equal to 18.30 cents paid for late July and August shipment."

"Full duty sugars from different parts of the world have been prominent among the imports of the week. First arrivals of the large purchases of Philippine sugars are reported at Philadelphia, while Mauritius, Java and Natal sugars have reached New York. Further arrivals of almost 10,000 tons of Brazil sugars are also recorded."

"The longshoremen's strike in Philadelphia continues to interfere seriously with the unloading of ships and the working of refineries at capacity."

Under the head of "Refined" sugar the Bulletin reports that there is little improvement in this city in shipping conditions, and that all shipments are accepted subject to delay.

Several refiners made a slight reduction of one-half cent a pound in their list price this week and one Philadelphia refiner advanced 1 1/2 cents.

The United States beet crop, the planting of which during the winter is estimated at 863,000 long tons by the Meinhardt Brokerage Company of Chicago, according to the Bulletin. Large increases are reported in the sowings in Michigan and some of the smaller producing states.

The Louisiana crop continues to show improvement and the outlook generally is said to be very encouraging, the Bulletin says. The crop is estimated at from 200,000 to 250,000 tons.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1878)

LANGER AND THE SOCIALIST VOTE

Hats off to "Bill" Langer.

He made the good fight and lost—but he is not defeated.

North Dakota owes much to his courage and indefatigable energy in fighting the forces of socialism in North Dakota.

Lynn J. Frazier is not the choice of the Republicans of North Dakota, but William Langer is. That fact is driven home conclusively by the election returns. Arthur C. Townley legally, not morally, has captured the Republican primaries and nominated for the most important places several men through the support of avowed socialists, who, under our easy come and easy go election laws, were able to invade the Republican party.

The Socialist party is a lost party. But its members, masquerading as Republicans, are able to dictate the nominations.

Conservatively estimated there are 10,000 to 12,000 Socialist votes in the state. These went almost to a man for Governor Frazier and E. F. Ladd.

A majority of the Republican voters supported Langer and the other members on the Minot anti-Townley ballot. Eliminate the socialist vote from the Republican primaries and Mr. Townley's candidates would have been defeated by a greater margin than they defeated the regular Republican aspirants.

The socialist vote in North Dakota put on a Republican mask in 1916 when Lynn J. Frazier first ran for governor. In that election Oscar A. Johnson, socialist candidate for governor, secured only 2,615 votes and 377 of them came from Williams county, which Frazier carried by 500 votes at the recent primaries.

In the November election, 1916, when the socialists were quietly sliding into the Republican party, Frazier secured 87,665 votes to 20,351 for D. H. McArthur, Democrat. Mr. McArthur is now serving in Washington as John Baer's secretary. The alliance with McArthur was formed by Baer when he was a Democrat in good standing. In the primary election of June 26, 1918, the socialists only polled 77 votes for governor. Williams county did not poll a single socialist vote at the primary; they all went to Frazier.

The congressional contests were even more significant. In the first district there were only 13 socialist votes cast; in the second, 19 and in the third, 21.

No socialists were voted for at the general election in 1918. Townley had corralled the remaining corporal's guard and they all voted the Republican ticket.

For purposes of comparison, it is interesting to note that at the general election in 1914 J. A. Williams, the socialist candidate for governor, polled 6,019 votes. It is interesting to note just what the socialist vote was at this time in the counties which Mr. Frazier carried by such large majorities:

	Socialist Vote	Frazier's Majority
Mountrail	298	1920
Williams	716	714
Burke	270	423
McKenzie	226	522
McLean	278	328
Morton	232	228
Rollette	149	278
	2,169	2,989

*Incomplete.

There are other counties where as startling comparisons can be made. The socialist vote in 1914 was hardly typical, for during that year H. Aaker, running independent, captured 4,263 votes for governor and among them were many socialist votes.

It is reasonable to believe that four years of the Townley regime have attracted many new socialists to the state. This is especially true in Bottineau, Divide, McHenry, Renville and Oliver counties. In Ward county the socialist vote is not as evident since Minot lost its Dewey Dorman and Art Leseuer faction. It is believed that the reaction there several years ago drove many I. W. W. and socialist votes out of Ward county.

It is necessary to go back to the primary election contest of June 24, 1914, to get a line on the number of simon pure Republican votes. At that primary the total Republican vote cast was 61,201. In 1920 primary it is believed that the vote cast for governor will reach 113,000. Deduct from this total the socialist vote and allowing for increase of population during the six year period and you will get as the normal Republican vote in the state something in the neighborhood of 90,000 votes.

The normal Democratic vote is somewhere between 20,000 and 25,000 votes. An analysis of all these figures then shows conclusively that Townley holds the balance of power between regular Republicans and Democrats by means of a solid block of 10,000 or 12,000 socialist votes.

Langer's vote will run about 54,000. Just what O'Connor will do is not known, but it is believed he will receive in the neighborhood of only 10,000 votes at primary.

How then does it look to you; 54,000 regular Republicans and 10,000 or 15,000 regular Democrats?

Do you want 10,000 or 12,000 socialist votes to dominate the state government?

Unless some common ground of action is found, the minority socialist vote will dictate the policies of the state and there is no escaping the rule of the soviet.

It will avail little to abuse Townleyism and its evils. The weapon is within our grasp. We will have Townleyism as long as a division among the Anti-Townleyites makes it possible for a socialist minority to rule the state by immoral participation in Republican primaries. They would as readily enter the Democratic primaries if success led by that route.

WILSON DYNASTY FALLS

Both Bryan and Wilson have been eliminated in the nomination of Governor Cox of Ohio. Cox's attitude upon the liquor issue alienated Bryan and Wilson preferred McAdoo, Palmer or Davis. McAdoo was regarded as the crown prince of the Wilson dynasty and Tammany combined with the Champ Clark machine to eliminate the crowd that controlled the Baltimore and St. Louis conventions.

The Democrats showed considerable political shrewdness in refusing to bow to the administration. Political expediency dictated the nomination of Cox. Ohio is going to be the battle ground of the next presidential contest and whatever happens the Buckeye state can chalk down one more president among her illustrious sons, even before the votes are cast.

Both Republican and Democratic platforms are silent upon the liquor issue. Cox, however, is an avowed "wet," while Harding is not aligned with that element. The nomination of the Ohio governor doubtless is a sop to the "wet" element of the east most vociferously represented at San Francisco by Tammany leaders. This action with the women voting in November may prove a handicap. It can hardly help Cox in the West or Middle West where the issue is a dead letter, most states having gone dry before the federal enactment. Neither can it help him with the solid south, because that vote goes Democratic anyway and needed no special inducement to support the party of its faith.

Cox has made a good official of Ohio, but nationally he is not as well known as Harding. Eastern papers, especially the New York Times, classed Harding as a second rate politician devoid of any outstanding ability as a statesman. Applying their own yardstick to Cox, he cannot measure up as well as Senator Harding. If political expediency dictated Harding's nomination, the same factor was more potent in the selection of Cox.

As between the two candidates, the Tribune believes that Harding will make the greater appeal to the partisans as well as the politically independent voters of the nation.

Perhaps it is the high price of print paper that keeps the profiteers from turning over a new leaf.

Our system of choosing officials isn't perfect, but it requires no post-mortem examinations.

Perhaps a ouija board could bring sugar back from that higher land.

Progress is the law of life, man is not Man as yet.—Browning.

SUBSTITUTE FOR COTTON FOUND

From Japan comes news of the discovery of a remarkable substitute for cotton, in the shape of a sea grass known as sugamo, which flourishes in great abundance around the Japanese coasts. It is perhaps doubtful how profitable it will be to attempt to substitute it entirely for cotton, but it has been fully demonstrated that for economizing and strengthening cotton it is apparently invaluable. This sea grass, which can be had in any quantities required for the simple gathering of it, when properly treated and mixed with raw cotton makes a thread strong and useful for cheapening the material which is so high in price, says K. Hashino, in the Japan magazine. It was first tried in making material for rough horse blankets, and was found so practicable that it promises to come into very general use. Cotton mixed with this fiber is far stronger than thread made from raw cotton alone. Fishing nets made from material mixed with this fiber have been in the sea water for three months or more without showing any sign of being affected by the water, which is more than pure cotton twine can stand. It seems reasonable to suppose, too, that sugamo might be utilized in the making of certain grades of paper.—Quebec Telegraph.

ONCE NOTED PONY EXPRESS RIDER TELLS OF EARLY DAYS ON PLAINS

Charlie Higginbotham, Pal of Buffalo Bill, Guardian as Millions as Wells Fargo Driver, and Pioneer Miner, Celebrates Eightieth Birthday Anniversary

Butte, Mont., July 9.—Charlie Higginbotham, driver of the first stage which carried the United States mail to Butte, prospector, who panned dirt where the business blocks of the city now stand, star stage coach driver at the Chicago exposition; fero dealer in Mexico City, and pal of Buffalo Bill is celebrating his eightieth birthday here.

Despite his wild career of more than five decades in the Montana mining districts, Higginbotham on joys good health. "I figure on working ten or fifteen years more, then I'm going to quit and enjoy myself," he explained.

Higginbotham was born in Peoria, Ill., October 24, 1840. His parents lived on a farm. The quiet country-side did not inspire him. As soon as he was able to get a job he prepared to strike out for the gold fields. Higginbotham was a boy when he finally got as far as Omaha.

Was Pony Express Rider. His first employment was that of a pony express rider from Independence Springs to Pacific Springs, 114 miles through country infested with hostile Indians. Then he drove a four-horse stage from Bennett's Ferry, on the North Platte river, to Fort Hall, at the foot of Elk Mountain, on the Salt Lake road.

"I overestimated my capacity for hooch," explained Higginbotham, after stating that he was replaced by another driver.

"Charlie Slade then gave me a job on the Omaha Denver route," said Higginbotham. "I drove a route close to the Nebraska-Colorado line. Slade was a bad man when aroused. He caught a Frenchman named Jules rustling his horses. Promptly lassoing the thief, he dragged him into his corral and tied him to a post.

"First he cut off the Frenchman's right ear and tucked it into the victim's right pocket. Then he cut off the left ear and put it into the left pocket.

"I ought to cut out your heart, but it is so black it wouldn't keep," hissed the cattleman."

Higginbotham declared that Slade then beat the Frenchman to death and buried him just outside the corral. Three months on that job was enough for the boy. He trekked to Texas and in 1864 he turned up at Kansas City.

Takes Up Claim. "Bob Galloway and I decided to take a little trip on a boat, but Bob was so dazed, he forgot to ask where the boat was going," said the pioneer. "We landed at Fort Benton in June and liked the country so well we hiked on to Helena. We made up our minds to get into the mining game and we took a claim at the junction of Missoula gulch and Gini let gulch. We got about $700 out of it in six weeks and decided it was easier to drive horses than dig gold."

Again and again wanderlust seized Higginbotham. He traveled as far north as the Peace River country in Canada, and as far south as Mexico City. On July 17, 1893 he completed it a stage driving contest at the world's fair in Chicago. "I won the contest and got $1,000 and an imitation gold medal," Higginbotham asserted. "I lost the medal in a fire at Silver City, N. M., but it wasn't much of a loss."

HEALTH ADVICE

CARE OF THE EYES
The normal eyes, in order to be saved unnecessary strain, should work under the best conditions at all times. For instance the light should always be sufficient, but never glaring; and, as far as possible, it should fall directly upon the work in hand and not upon the face. The work size of type for example, should be such as will not require unusual effort on the part of the eyes. Neither should a person overwork his eyes any more than any other organ of his body.

If a person's eyes have an uncorrected optical defect a given amount of use will tire them more than those which are perfect and such persons should govern their use accordingly. However, any evidence of eye strain or imperfect vision should always be reason to consult a competent oculist. Never neglect the eyes for through them comes more than half of life's pleasures.

Q. What makes my finger nails ridge and full of white spots?
A. It is impossible to say what the cause of this condition may be. The condition, however, is so entirely harmless that you should stop worrying about it.

Q. Please tell me if there is any cure for diabetes. What are the signs of diabetes. I had the flu and since then my chest has a heavy feeling, but I do not cough. I am not very strong. Is it a sign of bronchitis? Do you know of any good blood tonic?

A. You are evidently attempting to diagnose your own condition. For this reason I am not telling you the signs of diabetes. You should be sure to go to a reputable physician, have him give you a thorough examination and see what is wrong.

PEOPLE'S FORUM

Delphos, Kans., July 8, '20.
Editor The Tribune:
The experiment of complete prohibition is a truly American achievement. All European nations have restricted the sale of liquor in various ways especially since the beginning of the great war, but they still permit the sale of the milder alcoholic poisons and usually some of the stronger kinds as well.
I recently read the above significant lines in a prominent magazine. And I would add—Our country's record is exemplary and it remains now that by our political platforms and practice we should correspond with what we have struggled so hard and long to obtain. Consistency at that point will contribute vastly to our influence among the nations.
Wishing you continued success, I remain—Yours for Christian Reforms.

EVERETT TRUE

By Condo

AS IT LOOKS TO ME

By THE INSIDE MAN

Washington, July 9.—Speaking of red tape in government, I talked to a department head connected with the Federal Board for Vocational Training. The other day had become so disgusted with red tape and inefficiency as a result of it, he decided to get himself transferred to the Bureau of Efficiency. "I thought 'that is the place for me,'" he said. "I will be where I can speed up government work."

But after trying for several days to get connected with the Bureau of Efficiency, he found that it used more red tape than the other bureaus it was trying to make efficient, so he gave up his worthy ambitions of trying to get where he could do "the most good" and decided to stay where he was. He compared the slowness of government activities to a nightmare.

Uncle Sam isn't such a bad boss. He gives his employees a month's vacation each year on pay, grants them a month's sick leave a year on pay, the average employee works less than seven hours, and the word "work" is used advisedly—that is the number of hours they are on duty holding themselves in readiness to work. The girl war workers all have plenty of time to keep their hair slicked up and their noses powdered. Very few of them get less than $100 a month, and many get more. The average government employee is satisfied.

Washington, July 9.—Maybe, after all, it is worth while for congress to distribute free garden and flower seeds.

Members of congress have been berated and criticized on every hand for spending the public money to send out these seeds, but if each member dispatched his allotment with the fine shown by congressman John H. Small of Washington, N. C., the harvest of smiles would be ample return for the few hundred thousand dollars they cost annually.

There's nothing so small about Small. He uses flower seeds to carry cheer and beauty to the womenfolk of North Carolina districts. What he wants is not a vote from the men, but a smile from the women.

And the seeds themselves, and the posies they may produce, may be given on their proper poetic setting in the minds of North Carolina womenfolk. Small sends with each package a letter of greeting and good wishes.

During the early spring of this year, for instance, the women of his district received the following letter, demonstrating beyond cavil, that at least one congressman has his mind above the mundane things of government.

"My Dear Madam, As I glance through my office window today, I find banners of springtime or flowers. The skies are heavily overcast. The chill air of winter lingers. Fog and dampness envelop the bare trees and obscure the buildings. Even the imposing dome of the Capitol unwillingly emerges from the humid gloom.

But the witchery of hope enables me to behold the gentle zephyrs and sunny sunshine of May, when Spring unlocks the flowers to paint the laughing soil and hangs her infant blossoms on the trees. It is of you and that glad hour that I am thinking.

"If you love flowers and every woman does—perhaps a tiny packet of seeds sent forward by mail may, under loving care, tempt a smile more beautiful than its bloom."

"Very sincerely,
"JOHN H. SMALL
"P. S.—If this packet does not arrive within two weeks, a letter will start another to you."

"Oh, poet!" I pleaded. "O, master of Art!"

Sing me a song for my wounded heart. O, sing me your sweetest once again—

But the poet put in, as he nibbled his pen,
"The power of sugar is past all buying. I am buying it now in quarter-pounds."

"O, anchorite father—O, celibate saint!
O, hermit, free of all fleshly taint! O, grant me part of your soul's peace now!"

But the hermit replied, as he beat his brow,
"Now I shall say how to find relief
From the wages of sin and the price of beef!"

"O, lover, arouse you! 'tis spring! 'tis spring!
Let the wine in your arteries dance and sing!
Let us cast off care, with the world well lost—"

But the lover replied, in a voice of frost,
"Cupid and Psyche have mournful news;
Their banners are banned by the price of shoes."

"O, modern Maecenas, I seek your shrine!
Your home is a palace almost divine. O, here is a haven of solace and rest!"

But Maecenas remarked, with his chin in his chest,
"You better seek round (th) we get you quite
But say—aint the price of potatoes a fright!"

"IRISH NAVY" CRUISING OFF JERSEY COAST

Six Craft Planning to Capture America's International Yacht Cup Off Sandy Hook

SIR THOMAS REAL SPORT

New York July 9.—There's a little bit of Ireland floating off the Jersey coast and its ruler is a familiar figure in yachting planners and cap. Sir Thomas Lipton and his "navy" six craft strong, invading the United States to capture the America's Cup in a yachtsmen's battle off Sandy Hook this month.

The man to whom a large patch of water is an alien sight thinks of the cup races as a few impromptu jousts between a couple of sailing sloops which cost a mite more than the average man can afford. He does not realize that these yachts and their crews have to go through a period of training as long as that of any football team and a thousand times more costly.

By purchase of charter Sir Thomas has amassed his fleet. In addition to the challenger, Shamrock IV, and the trial horse, the 23-meter Shamrock, there is the steam yacht Victoria, the flagship of the fleet, on which the veteran yachtsman lives anchored each night in the Hudson.

Then there is the houseboat Killarney tucked snugly away in the shelter of the Hook. On the Killarney reside the crews of the two racing craft.

Rest of Fleet.

But this does not complete the fleet. There is the tug Governor Smith to tow the sloops to the starting line and a snappy speed boat to run errands. Numb-die, smaller launches and dingies don't count in this yachting armada.

The Irish baronet has his daily schedule—enjoyable enough, but just at present as business to which he adheres as closely as the broker daily watches his ticker.

Each day he steams down to the Hook from New York to watch the challenger his sweetheart, the elderly butcher calls her—match her speed against the trial horse.

Each day, as dusk approaches, he holds conference with his band of yachting experts, suggesting little changes here, little changes there, smoothing out a ripple in a club-top sail which to the land-lubber fits exactly or clipping a few inches from a topmast with which, to the uninitiated, there seems nothing wrong.

And each day he continues to deal out dollars to the 150 members of his armada. For it is an expensive sport, this quest of a hundred guinea cup and victor or loser. Sir Thomas will have paid out more than a million dollars for this year's races alone.

At eight o'clock, except in most distressing weather, raising of Sir Thomas' personal flag—a green shamrock on a field of gold—betokens that the vice-commodore of the Royal Ulster Yacht club is aboard, awake and ready to receive guests. These invariably include a corps of newspapermen. Most of them come for breakfast, stay for lunch and linger for dinner, and as sea air breeds an appetite the yacht's larder receives a blow which would make the ordinary housewife quiver in these days of high prices.

Victoria Weighs Anchor.

Then the Victoria weighs anchor. Recognized by all harbor craft, she receives salutes from sootiest tug to most majestic battleship.

Sir Thomas stands on the bridge—the familiar, blue-jacketed, bearded figure who for years has crossed the Atlantic to win the trophy on which he has set his heart. He strokes his gray goatee and his face wrinkles into a rough grin as he swaps yarn for yarn with his innumerable guests.

For Sir Thomas must have his joke.

One of which he is particularly fond concerns a visit once paid at Cowes by former Mayor John Fitzgerald of Boston.

The baronet was entertaining a group of Americans when suddenly it was reported to him that the royal launch was headed for his craft.

Court Etiquette.

"The king of the queen," cried Sir Thomas and at once began drilling his guests in court etiquette.

But the royal launch, which rarely carries any but royalty, arrived with a lone Yankee.

It seems that Mr. Fitzgerald, wishing to pay a visit to his friend the Irish yachtsman, had been unable to find a craft which he deemed sufficiently natty to bring him alongside. But finding the royal launch at the royal landing stage, he pronounced it "a decent enough boat" and ordered it to the Lipton yacht.

Meanwhile the king and queen, reaching the stage, beheld in amazement their launch dashing away from them. And the master of the small craft, on his return, had this explanation to make—the gentleman had introduced himself as "the Mayor of Boston," "United States of America," which royal yachtsman, impressed com pressed into "the Mayor of America," and of course a man who would dare march onto the royal landing stage must have stepped onto it with royal permission.

And so, chatting of kings and slow-ways yachts and intrigues, he entertains his guests until the Hook is reached and as Sir Thomas is never so well cast as when he is playing the host, it is an enjoyable trip, this little jow-down down the bay to the serious work of the day.

Racing Sloops.

The racing sloops, lying at anchor with mainsails and club-topmasts set, awaiting arrival of their master, look as alike as two peas to the landsman. And the vegetarian simile is carried out by the hulls, both painted a lively Irish green. The only apparent difference is that the Shamrock IV is just a little greener than her partner, for even her decks are emerald.

As soon as the Victoria's engines are stopped, the veterans of international regattas board the launch to inspect his craft before they set out. From that moment he becomes lost to all but things maritime.

Round the course Sir Thomas follows his sloops as they race and after the finish again holds parley with their skippers. Then it's back to New York in the evening—the day's work done.

GRANDADS' DAY ON GOLF COURSE LIKE BABY SHOW

Unique Feature Day Held at Chicago Country Club Relayed by Writer

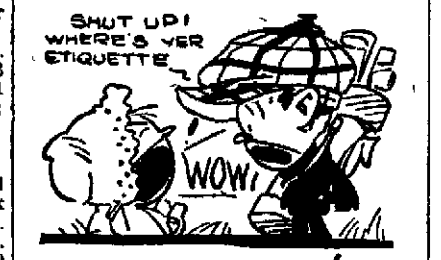

BY EDWARD M. THIERRY.

Chicago, July 9.—The only youngsters allowed around a golf course are caddies. Except on Granddad's Day. Ever try that on the home links? Granddad's Day at Exmoor Country Club gave the first tee the appearance of a baby show—fluffy clothes, safety pin yelps, milk bottles and everything. Only grandfathers were qualified to compete in the annual Granddad's Day handicap. Every grandchild sworn to added one-half stroke to a player's handicap. And in addition, every grandchild present at the first tee at the beginning of play added a full stroke to grandfather's handicap. Maybe it was grand-paternal worry over the possibility of grandson getting beamed with a niblick—anyway, the winner and the runner-up didn't have any descendants present.

T. Barber Brown won the 18-hole medal play with a net 74 1/2, plus regular handicap of 15 and a half strokes for a grandchild he swore he had at home.—H. H. Hitchcock was second with a net 75 1/2 plus a regular 24 handicap and another half stroke for a grandchild not present.

R. W. Patton was the proudest grandfather golfer there. He swore to possessing six, but none showed up. Richmond Dean had three grandchildren present, adding three full strokes to his handicap, but he couldn't win.
